

Budding cricket player Jude Brittain, 14, of West Bridgford, picked up some top tips when he took part in a bowling challenge with former Nottinghamshire and England star Chris Broad at West Bridgford School as it held a fundraising day in aid of the Broad Appeal. The fund was launched by the Broad family after the death of Chris's wife Mische from motor neurone disease. Chris visited the school, which had been raising money all week for the appeal. The former Test star took part in a bowling challenge with students from all years, while a fete took place at the same time.
